

Seminar on customs and import-export operations: practical experience in import-export activities at gilimex joint stock company

On the morning of May 31, at the District 7 campus, the Faculty of Taxation and Customs successfully organized a departmental-level seminar titled “customs and import-export operations: practical experience in import-export activities at Gilimex Joint Stock Company.” The event attracted great interest and enthusiastic participation from lecturers and students of cohorts 21D and 22D specializing in customs and import-export.

The seminar was honored to welcome M.A. Mai Ly – Head of Sourcing Department at Gilimex Joint Stock Company in Ho Chi Minh City. With extensive experience and deep expertise in the field of import-export, she provided students with practical and valuable insights into the import-export operations at Gilimex, helping them better understand the processes and challenges of the industry.

M.A. Mai Ly – Head of Sourcing Department at Gilimex Joint Stock Company, Ho Chi Minh City

Throughout the seminar, students had the opportunity to listen to valuable insights shared by faculty members and the guest speaker on various important aspects of import-export activities. M.A. Mai Ly gave a detailed presentation on how to search for international clients, strategies for negotiation and signing import-export contracts, as well as the essential skills required to manage and implement international transactions effectively.

Additionally, faculty members from the faculty of taxation and customs introduced students to new market access methods, approaches for handling unexpected situations in goods transportation, and key updates in customs regulations. These insights not only strengthened students' theoretical foundations but also equipped them with invaluable practical knowledge, increasing their confidence in real-world professional environments.

M.A. Nguyễn Thị Huyền – Vice Dean of the Faculty of Taxation and Customs

The organizing committee extends its sincere gratitude to all lecturers and the guest speaker for their valuable time and meaningful contributions to the seminar. We wish you all continued health and success in your professional journeys.

To all students, we hope that the knowledge and experiences gained from this seminar will serve as a strong foundation for your future careers, empowering you to confidently enter the labor market and contribute to the growth of Vietnam's customs and import-export sector.

